American Registry of Pathology

TUMORS OF THE ESOPHAGUS AND STOMACH

Robert D. Odze et al

Mar 2019 416pp, 595 images
9781933477404 Hardback US$210.00

AFIP Atlas of Tumor Pathology Series 4, No. 28

Since the publication of the previous edition of Tumors of the Esophagus and Stomach, great advances in many areas of tumor biology have led to a better understanding of the pathogenesis, pathology, and molecular biology of epithelial and stromal malignancies of the upper gastrointestinal tract. Many of these advances have led to specific improvements in diagnosis, prognosis, treatment, and thus, survival in patients affected by these tumors.

This edition highlights these advances to help pathologists diagnose diseases more accurately and understand how pathology contributes to clinical treatment in the new age of personalized and targeted therapy.

This book has been written with the pathologist in mind first by using tables that illustrate salient pathologic, molecular, and differential diagnostic features of key entities that are often difficult to distinguish from each other. Specific colour photographs of classic tumors and morphologic variants often difficult to recognise are used throughout.

3D PRINTING
Understanding Additive Manufacturing, Second Edition
Andreas Gebhardt, Julia Kessler & Laura Thurn
Jan 2019 230pp
9781569907023 Hardback US$83.00

This book is a clear and concise guide to Additive Manufacturing (AM), now a well-established valuable tool for making models and prototypes, and also a manufacturing method for molds and final parts finding applications in industries such as medicine, car manufacturing, and aerospace engineering.

The book was designed as a supporting material for special courses on advanced manufacturing technology, and for supplementing the content of traditional manufacturing lessons.

This second edition has been updated to account for the recent explosion of availability of small, inexpensive 3D printers for domestic use, as well as new industrial printers for series production that have come onto the market.

TEN THINGS EVERY CHILD WITH AUTISM WISHES YOU KNEW

Third Edition

Ellen Notbohm
Edited by Veronica Zysk
Jun 2019 277pp
9781941765883 Paperback US$16.95

An award-winning bestseller gets even better! Every parent, teacher, social worker, therapist, and physician should have this succinct and informative book in their back pocket. Framed with both humour and compassion, the book describes ten characteristics that help illuminate - not define - children with autism.

Ellen’s personal experiences as a parent of children with autism and ADHD, a celebrated autism author, and a contributor to numerous publications, classrooms, conferences, and websites around the world coalesce to create a guide for all who come in contact with a child on the autism spectrum.

This updated edition delves into expanded thought and deeper discussion of communication issues, social processing skills, and the critical roles adult perspectives play in guiding the child with autism to a meaningful, self-sufficient, productive life.
CONSUMER SCIENCE FOR MARKETING
Nadia Olivero
Apr 2019 196pp
9788885486744 Paperback US$34.95
Considers the main topics of consumer psychology from the viewpoint of their contributions to marketing. While the book provides a comprehensive overview of the discipline it also guides the reader through theories and data for a straightforward understanding of their practical applications.

STARTUP ENTREPRENEURSHIP
Mikkel Draebye
Apr 2019 96pp
9788885486713 Paperback US$19.95
Offers both a deep academic point of view and a practical angle. The book differentiates itself by departing from the academic analysis, but it translates the uncertainty challenge into practical problems. It is about how to manage the risk associated with failure: the failure per se, and also the financial risk associated with it.

ON FAIRNESS
Sally McManus
Jan 2019 277pp
9780522874853 Paperback US$10.97
On Series
Why do we have creeping inequality in the land? The answer lies in stagnant wage rises, gender pay inequity, insecure work and the lack of real opportunities for all while corporations are still consuming large profits and executives claim record bonuses. On Fairness, Sally McManus explores the true cost of social injustice.

ANXIETY MANAGEMENT FOR KIDS ON THE AUTISM SPECTRUM
Your Guide to Preventing Meltdowns and Unlocking Potential
Christopher Lynch
Jul 2019 277pp
9781941765982 Paperback US$16.95

A clear and comprehensive anxiety management guide for those who live with and support children on the autism spectrum. The central purpose of this book is to highlight the reasons why children on the spectrum have so much anxiety and to directly tie this knowledge to practical and actionable recommendations.
Autism. Marlo Thurman proposes that sensory and cognitive development have evolved together into a very different form of intelligence in those with ASD, and it should be viewed not as a disability but instead as a difference to be celebrated and followed.

TALKING TRASH

_Cultural Uses of Waste_

Maite Zubiaurre

May 2019 196pp

978082652283 Hardback US$35.00

Much has been written about landfills and the monumentality of rubbish, but little attention has been paid to ‘litter’, the small trash that soils the urban pavement. Talking Trash looks at refuse in its early stages, when it is still tiny and unassuming, and has yet to grow, leave the metropolis, and accumulate in landfills.

THE ARTISTRY OF NEIL GAIMAN
Finding Light in the Shadows
Edited by Joseph Michael Sommers & Kyle Eveleth
Apr 2019 300pp, 44 b&w illustrations
9781496821652 Paperback US$30.00

Critical Approaches to Comics Artists Series

Neil Gaiman reigns as one of the most critically decorated and popular authors of the last fifty years. Perhaps best known as the writer of the Harvey, Eisner, and World Fantasy-award winning series The Sandman, Gaiman quickly became equally renowned in literary circles for Neverwhere, Coraline, and award-winning American Gods, as well as the Newbery and Carnegie Medal-winning The Graveyard Book.

Despite Gaiman’s incredible contributions to comics, his work remains underrepresented in sustained fashion in comics studies. The thirteen essays and two interviews with Gaiman and his frequent collaborator, artist P. Craig Russell, examine the work of Gaiman and his many illustrators. The essays discuss Gaiman’s oeuvre regarding the qualities that make his work unique in his eschewing of typical categories, his proclamations to “make good art,” and his own constant efforts to do so however the genres and audiences may slip into one another.

The intercontinental reach of Dar al-Islam, or the Islamic world, today touches all continents. This catalogue (like the exhibition it enhances) embraces this global reality to take the most expansive and inclusive vision of how many art practices have historically intersected with Islam and how they continue to do so.

Through key works of art, this publication examines trade relationships between regions as well as intercultural exchanges within smaller geographic areas. It discusses a range of interactions between practitioners of many religions who supplied art within political entities, both of Islamic cultural majority and Islamic cultural minority over centuries.

Works in this publication hail from what is present-day Afghanistan, Algeria, Burkina Faso, China, Egypt, France, Indonesia, India, Iran, Iraq, Malaysia, Morocco, Myanmar, the Netherlands, Nigeria, Pakistan, Togo, Turkey, Turkmenistan, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Sudan, Syria, the United States of America, Uzbekistan and Zanzibar. Works illustrated and discussed were created as recently as 2016 but also as early as the ninth century.

“Hope” and “change” were the keywords of President Barack Obama’s 2008 campaign, and in his farewell address he cited the evidence that he’d delivered - from reversing the Great Recession, and unleashing the longest stretch of job creation in US history to winning marriage equality and securing the right to health insurance for another 20 million citizens. At the same time, he made a plea for “the decency of our people” and “the sense of common purpose that we so badly need right now.”

In hindsight, it is increasingly possible to understand whether and how Obama’s legacy matched his rhetoric as well as to evaluate from various angles what his presidency accomplished and what this has meant for US politics, public policy, and civic life going forward. In The Obama Legacy some of the leading observers and scholars of US politics take up this challenge. In twelve essays these writers examine Obama’s choices, operating style, and opportunities taken and missed as well as the institutional and political constraints on the president’s policy agenda.

It is a political history of Zambia from colonial times to the present. A revealing insider account of politics and government within a modern African state. A story about race in Africa. A chronicle of the rise and fall of two improbable political allies who wanted to change Zambian politics: Michael Sata, whose convoluted political career led him to become president in 2011, and Guy Scott, Sata’s vice president and, after Sata’s death, acting president of Zambia. Not least, it is a pleasure to read.

Guy Scott’s absorbing narrative of his career and Michael Sata’s in the chaotic world of African politics tells a uniquely Zambian story. But it is also a special contribution to our understanding of democracy and democratization across Africa.

THE PRICE OF LITERATURE
The French Novel’s Theoretical Turn
Patrick M. Bray
Mar 2019 192pp
9780810139329 Paperback US$34.95

Examines the presence of theory in the nineteenth-century French novel. Emerging after the French Revolution, what we call literature was conceived as an art liberated from representational constraints. Patrick Bray shows how literature’s freedom to represent anything has meant, paradoxically, that it cannot articulate a coherent theory of itself.

CHAUTER AND RELIGIOUS CONTROVERSIES IN THE MEDIEVAL AND EARLY MODERN ERAS
Nancy Bradley Warren
Apr 2019 220pp
9780268105822 Paperback US$45.00

ReFormations: Medieval and Early Modern
Adopts a comparative, boundary-crossing approach to consider one of the most canonical of literary figures, Geoffrey Chaucer. This book breaks new ground by considering Chaucer’s continental interests as they inform his participation in religious debates concerning such subjects as female spirituality and Lollardy.

THE PORTRAIT OF BEATRICE
Dante, D. G. Rossetti, and the Imaginary Lady
Fabio Camilletti
Mar 2019 220pp
9780268103972 Hardback US$50.00

Examines both Dante’s and D.G. Rossetti’s intellectual experiences in the light of a common concern about visuality. Both render, in different times and contexts, something that resists clear representation, be it the divine beauty of the angel-women or the depiction of the painter’s own interiority in a secularized age.

THEATER OF THE WORD
Selfhood in the English Morality Play
Julie Paulson
Apr 2019 240pp
9780268104627 Paperback US$45.00

Sheds light on medieval constructions of the self as they emerge from within a deeply sacramental culture. The book examines the medieval morality play, a genre that addresses the question of what it means to be human and takes up the ritual traditions of confession and penance, long associated with medieval interiority, as its primary subjects.

UNDERSTANDING JAMES BALDWIN
Marc K. Dudley
Apr 2019 160pp
9781611179644 Hardback US$39.99

The Harlem-born son of a storefront preacher, James Baldwin died almost thirty years ago, but his spirit lives on in the eloquent and still-relevant musings of his novels, short stories, essays, and poems. In Understanding James Baldwin, Marc Dudley shows that a proper grasp of Baldwin’s work begins with a grasp of the times in which he wrote.

Gives readers the big picture of how trans people have been depicted on screen. The book examines a plethora of trans portrayals that emerged from varied media outlets, including documentary films, television serials, and world cinema. Along the way, it analyses milestones in trans representation.

UNDEAD ENDS
Stories of Apocalypse
S. Trimble
May 2019 224pp, 15 b&w illustrations
9780813593647 Paperback US$29.95
Examines how we imagine humanness and survival in the aftermath of disaster. The book frames modern British and American apocalypse films as sites of interpretive struggle, and asks what is ending? Whose dreams of starting over take centre stage? And how do these films make room to dream of new beginnings that don’t just reboot the world we know?

THOMISTIC EXISTENTIALISM AND COSMOLOGICAL REASONING
John F.X. Knasas
Jun 2019 328pp
9780813231853 Hardcover US$65.00
Cosmological reasoning is an important facet of classical arguments for the existence of God, but these arguments have been subject to may criticisms. The thesis of this book is that Thomas Aquinas can dodge many of the classic objections brought against cosmological reasoning.
Jacques Rancière’s work is increasingly central to several debates across the humanities. Distributions of the Sensible confronts a question at the heart of his thought: How should we conceive the relationship between the “politics of aesthetics” and the “aesthetics of politics”?

Hegel’s Elements of the Philosophy of Right offers an innovative account of normativity, yet the theory rests on philosophical foundations that have remained largely obscure. Kevin Thompson proposes an interpretation of the foundations that underlie Hegel’s theory: its method of justification, its concept of freedom, and its account of right.

Presents an important new reading of Jacques Derrida’s writings on religion and ethics. Eddis Miller argues that Derrida’s late texts on religion constitute an interrogation of the meaning and possibility of a “philosophy of religion.”

Why does Immanuel Kant consistently invoke God and Providence in his most prominent texts relating to international politics? In this wide-ranging study, Séan Molloy proposes that these texts cannot be fully understood without reference to Kant’s wider philosophical projects, and in particular the role of belief in God.

9780810139350 Paperback US$34.95
Diaeresis
Develops Hegel’s radical perspective of speculative thought as a way of reclaiming and revitalizing the sense of the future and its possibilities. Glyn Daly articulates the distinctness of speculative philosophy and draws its implications for new debates in areas of science, politics, capitalism, ideology, ethics, and the event.

THINKING AND THE I
Hegel and the Critique of Kant
Alfredo Ferrarin
Mar 2019 292pp
9780810139381 Paperback US$34.95
What is the relation between thinking and the I that thinks? And between thought and reality? The ordinary view is that there is only thought when someone thinks something, and thoughts and concepts are mental acts that refer to objects outside us. Ferrarin shows that Hegel’s philosophy entails a radical criticism of this conception of thinking.
